United Way Seeking Volunteers

Help Others, Gain Valuable Experience, Raise Your Profile in the Community

Campbell River, BC- April 17, 2013 – The United Way Central & Northern Vancouver Island (UWCNVI) is now recruiting Campaign Cabinet volunteers to donate their time and talents to support the annual United Way Change starts here fundraising campaign. Funds from the United Way campaign support 12 local social service programs and help make Campbell River a stronger, healthier and safer place.

Volunteers are joining the team now to begin planning for the annual Change starts here campaign, which will officially kick off in September.

“Serving on the campaign team is a great way for business professionals and labour representatives to raise their profile, learn new skills and expand their network while making a difference,” says Signy Madden, Executive Director of UWCNVI. “We also want to put the word out to new comers to the community – business people or retirees- looking for a rewarding volunteer experience.”

United Way is also looking for individuals interested in starting or heading-up workplace fundraising campaigns at their workplace as an Employee Campaign Coordinator. Contact Brad Bayly at 250-702-2911 to get involved.

If you are interested in being a United Way volunteer this year, contact us today at 250-287-3213 or info@uwcnvi.ca.
